

Branching out

The Dow Jones acquisition would boost News Corp.'s revenue by more than 7 percent, based on fiscal year 2006 data.

2006 revenue by business segment; size of segments are proportional to revenue

FILMED ENTERTAINMENT

Twentieth Century Fox leads a group of studios responsible for full-length movies as well as television shows such as "24," "My Name is Earl," and "Prison Break."

$6.20 BILLION

TELEVISION

In addition to the 35 Fox affiliates in the U.S., News Corp. controls the STAR group of television programming, which is distributed throughout Asia.

$5.33 BILLION

NEWSPAPERS

News Corp. maintains only one U.S. paper—the New York Post—but has extensive properties abroad. In Britain, the conglomerate publishes The Times and The Sunday Times in addition to The Sun and News of the World. News Corp. also has more than 110 papers in Australia, Rupert Murdoch's homeland, as well as in Fiji and Papua New Guinea.

$4.09 BILLION

CABLE

Fox Cable Networks stations include Fox Movie Channel, Fox Soccer Channel and National Geographic Channel. The cable division also is home to the Fox News Channel.

$3.36 BILLION

SATELLITE TV

The division's primary focus is on Sky Italia in Europe, but it maintains a stake in the British Sky Broadcasting Group and Tata Sky, an Asian satellite TV company.

$2.54 BILLION

BOOKS

Last fiscal year, the division's sole publisher, HarperCollins, had 109 titles on The New York Times best-seller list, including 14 books at the No. 1 spot. Recent titles include "Marley & Me," "Freakonomics" and "The Purpose Driven Life."

$1.31 BILLION

DOW JONES & CO.

The business-information company's biggest moneymaker is The Wall Street Journal, which boasts the highest weekday circulation of any paper in the U.S. Dow Jones also publishes Barron's.

$1.73 BILLION

INTERNET / OTHER

In 2005 Fox Interactive Media added MySpace.com to its roster of Web sites, which also includes AmericanIdol.com and FoxSports.com

$1.40 BILLION

MAGAZINES / INSERTS

Along with the conservative political magazine The Weekly Standard, News Corp. has a major stake in Gemstar-TV Guide and publishes advertising that is inserted into publications.

$1.09 BILLION